

Ontario Ecology and Ethology Colloquium 2007

May 7-9, 2007

The University of Western Ontario

Each spring for the past three and half decades, graduate students, undergraduates, faculty, and post-docs from Ontario and beyond have gathered for the Ontario Ecology and Ethology Colloquium (OEEC). This annual conference is a forum for researchers to present their work in a constructive and friendly atmosphere, and for interaction between students and established researchers. This is a great venue for presenters to share their work, as well as an excellent place for faculty to recruit promising new students. OEEC was originally conceived as a venue to present research in ecology and behaviour, it has since broadened to include diverse fields as evolution, genetics, psychology, conservation, and environmental science.

For more information on registration and abstract submission, please check our website www.oeec.ca or www.uwo.ca/biology/oeec.

We look forward to your participation. Join us in London this spring.
